

Social responsibility

Isatex srl guarantees compliance with the main national and international standards and conventions relating to:

- child labor
- forced labor
- freedom of union association
- equal opportunities
- working hours and wages
- health and safety in the workplace
- disciplinary practices
- protection of privacy and regulation of administrative transparency

In this regard, Isatex srl has complied with the criteria set by the SA8000 standard obtaining certificate no. SA-1819. This norm constitutes the first international standard with which it is ensured that an organization is socially responsible, that is, it undertakes to respect the rules of work ethics.

This standard is based, in fact, on principles dictated by international references on human and worker rights and in particular it refers to the concepts of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the ILO Conventions (International Labor Organization), the Conventions of United Nations on the Rights of the Child and to eliminate all forms of Discrimination against women.
